Mennonite Yearbook for 1956

You will find in the 1956 Mennonite Yearbook the following nine changes which we believe will improve its usefulness to ministers, missionaries, teachers, writers, committeemen, and other Christian workers. Most of these improvements were discussed and agreed upon at a meeting of conference secretaries and statisticians held at Hesston, Kans., in August, 1955. This was the first meeting of this kind, and it is hoped that in future meetings plans can be discussed for more accurate reporting by each local congregation.

1. Each conference table in the Church Directory includes all rural and city missions for that conference in addition to the organized congregations. A system of symbols, explained at the beginning of the Church Directory, indicates the type of sponsorship, whether it is congregational, district board, or general board. Because of this new arrangement the Home Missions section will no longer appear in the Yearbook. Each conference table now is intended to give a complete picture of conference activities related to organized congregations, missions, membership, and pastoral oversight.

2. The conference table will no longer list the time of preaching services since most congregations now have regular preaching services each Sunday. The extra space allows for more complete addresses of the congregations.

3. The date in parenthesis following each congregation or mission gives the year the work first began. Dates are not given to show when new buildings were erected.

4. Two conferences requested that the names of pastors appear in such a manner that they will stand out. Hence the pastors' names in these two conferences appear in bold face type.

5. Since the Family Almanac discontinued publication last year, the Mennonite Yearbook beginning this year will contain two kinds of calendars—a Christian calendar and a church meeting calendar. The one calendar lists for 1956 and 1957 dates of Christian holidays and special dates observed by our own brotherhood. The other calendar gives the names, places, and dates, of various meetings for the year 1956.

6. Because of the rapid growth and activity of Mennonite Service Organizations, a section is included listing names, addresses, and officers of MSO groups now active.

7. A ministerial directory of the names and addresses of Mennonite ministers in the Java Mennonite Church is included this year for the first time.

8. The names, addresses, and telephone numbers for licensed ministers of the Mennonite Church are included in the regular Ministerial Directory for the first time this year.

9. The Conservative Mennonite Church, which now has representation on the General Council of Mennonite General Conference and also on two general boards, is this year included with the membership figures of the Mennonite Church. This additional membership accounts for the unusual increase this year over last year. The membership of what is now known as the Mennonite Church consists of members of all conferences, with their missions, who are members of Mennonite General Conference or who are eligible for such membership.

In addition to the above revisions all the regular statistical data has been revised and brought up to date. The editor is especially grateful to all officers, secretaries, and statisticians who were quite patient and cooperative in helping to provide the necessary data. Special thanks are due Helen Trumbo, who was responsible for the compiling and preparation of the statistical material for printing. To the printers also we are thankful for their careful handling of the material in composition, proofreading, make-up, and printing.

We are grateful to God for increased activity in the church and for the many increases in enrollments and memberships. May our constant prayer be that in spiritual fellowship and understanding we continue to grow into the likeness of our Lord and Master.

Mennonite General Conference

Paul Erb, Executive Secretary

Mennonite General Conference Organization

Mennonite General Conference is the over-all organization of the Mennonite Church. The following district conferences are members: Argentine, Alberta-Saskatchewan, Allegheny, North Central, Illinois, Indiana-Michigan, India, Iowa-Nebraska, Ohio and Eastern, Ontario, Pacific Coast, South Central, South Pacific, Virginia, Puerto Rico. These conferences are also eligible for membership: Franconia, Lancaster, Washington-Franklin, Conservative, Ontario Amish. All the eligible conferences except one (Washington-Franklin) have representatives in the General Council. Statistically all these conferences including Conservative Mennonite are considered in our denomination. There is co-operation in many areas of activity. Puerto Rico, established as a mission field, became a member conference in 1955.

Mennonite General Conference is not an administrative authority. It has no legislative control over its member conferences. It does constitute a fellowship for conferences which approximate one another in faith, standards of life, and ways of worship and service. It provides a means for denominational action and commitment. It is a forum of study and discussion which is essential for acquaintance and understanding. Unity is impossible for people with no contacts. Our conferences need help from one another—help which can be given and received through such an organization as Mennonite General Conference.

The Conference meets biennially, a pattern which has generally prevailed since its first organization in 1897. According to a revision of the constitution adopted in 1955, member conferences may elect one delegate for each 200 members. Bishops are no longer ex-officio delegates, except that for eligible conferences which do not elect delegates, bishops are recognized as delegates. All officers and members of the General Council are ex-officio delegates.

Biennial Sessions at Hesston

The 1955 session, the twenty-ninth, met at Hesston, Kans., Aug. 23-26. Eighteen conferences were represented. There were 150 delegates—85 bishops, 60 ministers, 3 deacons, and 2 laymen. The registration of ordained men totaled 262—85 bishops, 153 ministers, 24 deacons. Sessions were all open to the public, and many laymen, not only of the South Central district, but from more distant districts, were present. The Conference was entertained by the South Central Conference and by the local congregations, using the excellent facilities of Hesston College and the Hesston congregation.

Among the actions of this session was the adoption of four official statements of position: on the Nurture and Evangelism of Children (presented by the Commission for Christian Education), on Insurance (Insurance and Investment Study Committee), on Race Relations (Committee on Economic and Social Relations), and on Nonconformity to the World (General Problems Committee). Important recommendations of the Ministerial Committee were adopted relative to church organization and administration, the principles of ministerial support, and retirement and social security. (All actions and reports are given in full in the Proceedings, which may be secured on request from Mennonite General Conference, Scottdale, Pa.)

The General Council

The General Council consists of representatives from the district conferences, the church-wide boards, and the standing committees of General Conference. The members of the Executive Committee are also members of the General Council, and serve as its Steering Committee. It has been organized to prepare the agenda and program for the biennial sessions, to determine the budget and raise funds, to take care of emergency actions required between Conference sessions, and to be advisory in such matters as may be brought before it. An important function of the General Council is coming to be its sitting as a study conference. For instance, in March, 1955, the Council and certain invited persons spent most of two days in studying two questions: one on nonconformity and one on church organization and administration. At these conferences papers are read and discussed. Nothing is decided, but ideas are presented and evaluated as objectively as possible. This discussion of issues before the church in an atmosphere free of tensions is one of the encouraging features of our current church life.

The General Council met three times in 1955: in Chicago, on March 29, 30; at Hesston, on Aug. 23; and again in Chicago on Dec. 9, 10. One of the actions was the authorization of the publication of a certificate of membership for those temporarily away from the home congregation, like I-W men or students. The purpose is to give all members a sense of belonging and a place to work and worship, even though they do not want to move their membership.

Work of General Conference

Much of the actual work of General Conference is done by the standing committees. The General Council has the following: Budget and Finance, Organization and Representation, Co-ordination of Church Program. General Conference standing committees serve the following areas or concerns: Peace Problems, Mutual Aid, General Problems, Music, History, Economic and Social Relations, Ministerial Problems, Commission for Christian Education. These committees work on assignment from General Conference and report biennially. Since 1955 Mennonite General Conference has an Executive Secretary, who gives about 40 per cent of his time to General Conference interests.

The work of General Conference and the various committees is financed by donations by our churches and Sunday schools. The 1955 Conference approved an annual budget of $39,000. To raise this money appeals are sent out to member conferences or congregations for ninety cents per church member and eighteen cents per Sunday-school pupil enrolled. Donations come also from some conferences which do not belong to General Conference.

Our general boards—Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, Mennonite Publication Board, and Mennonite Board of Education—are autonomous boards. However, they report to General Conference and carry on their work in harmony with General Conference doctrines and standards. There is an attempt to co-ordinate their work with each other and with General Conference through the Committee on Co-ordination of Church Program, which is composed of representatives of all interests.

As the years pass, greater needs confront us as a church, and the required organization must be set up to meet these needs. But machinery has no value in itself. There must be constant vigilance lest the church become just a complicated machine. We have a heavenly calling and character as a part of the body of Christ. Our work must not overshadow our life in Him. But because we are His people, and because He has commissioned us to represent Him in the world, we must as good servants be efficient. We must pray that through our committees, boards. and conferences the Holy Spirit may be free to work His blessed will. Scottdale, Pa.

Revolution

The message remains the same but the world in which the message is proclaimed undergoes profound changes. There is no word that more accurately describes what has taken place in our world during the past decade or two than revolution. Some of these revolutions have been of the violent type but more commonly they have been silent but mighty upheavals of entire nations and systems. Whether we speak religiously, politically, socially, or economically, this is not the same world we had in 1919.

Nationalism

The birth of new nations has taken place at an unprecedented rate. This movement has proceeded apace with the dissolution of empires. It has already become a truism to say that the day of empires is past. France is now the only nation attempting to keep the old empire more or less intact, but the gigantic forces of the new day are causing the fiercest of conflicts and much violence.

We need only review the names of some of the newborn nations to appreciate the truth of the foregoing statements: India, Ethiopia, Libya, Israel, Lebanon, Syria, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma, the Philippines, China, and others. It is no exaggeration to say that during the past decade half of the world's people have moved from the political status of colonials to that of independent nationals.

Politically this new nationalism means that the foreign missionary is having an increasingly difficult time in gaining entrance to these countries. After he is there he has greater difficulty in gaining a hearing because of the antiforeign feelings these new nationalisms create. The Gospel also meets greater competition because a resurgent nationalism brings about a revival of national religions.

The Great Need

The conclusion to the foregoing is not that foreign missions are at an end. They are manifestly at the end of an era; the old structures and approaches, suited to the world of the past decades, need now to be re-evaluated and perhaps radically altered. But the need for the Gospel is greater than ever. There are many more non-Christians today than there were at the beginning of the present so-called great missionary century, perhaps more than 600 million! We also no longer draw the world map with Europe and America in white as the Christian continents and with Africa and Asia and the islands in black representing the heathen world. Heathenism, we see now more clearly than ever, cannot be isolated geographically. In a very real sense this also wipes out the old distinction between home and foreign missions.

There is more hunger and misery in the world today than ever before. Never have we had so many refugees and displaced persons; never so much frustration, fear, and hopelessness. How sick is today's world and how pathetically tragic is the need for the life, hope, and peace that only Christ can bring!

New Methods

Ponderous foreign mission organizations suited the Colonial age when western nations administered their great world empires. Now a foreign mission organization is felt to be an anachronism. This viewpoint lends urgency to the newer approach which says, "Smaller groups of missionaries in more places." Foreign mission organization on the field is now made temporary and great care is exercised lest the foreign mission interfere with the emerging church. The objective is clearly the "discipling of the people," calling out a group of related people who have made Christ the center of their life's devotion. Such a group is the church, and it is the development of this church that is the objective toward which all mission effort is bent.

It is not the organization but the individual—the consecrated, called, and qualified worker who becomes central in today's mission program. This is more difficult and requires more orientation and training for the missionary who does not go out to do a job in an institution or to carry out a more or less predetermined routine. When he goes out alone or in a small group to a new place, and certainly into a new situation, he is really on his own. He cannot take along a blueprint from home. So he must know how to be guided of the Holy Spirit. We had the geographical pioneers a generation or two ago. We still need pioneers, not so much to open new geographical areas, but to pioneer in entirely new dimensions of method and approach.

The church will need more full-time and fully supported missionaries as she seeks to carry out the Great Commission. In addition to these there must be the ever larger army of lay missionaries supporting themselves and engaging in their marginal time in effective witness and outreach activity. Someone has prophesied that in the next decade or two one out of every four college graduates of America will spend some time in service abroad. What an army of foreign missionaries this would be if the Christians among them could be given the vision and training to exploit this opportunity for Christ and His church.

We must find ways of using not only our personal resources but also the great material resources God has entrusted to us. We have scarcely begun to find the way for making an effective economic witness in our today's overrich world. Barnabas in apostolic times gave effective expression to his newfound faith by selling his patrimony and placing his entire estate at the disposal of the brotherhood. We must find an effective Christian witness on the economic level for our materialistic times. We have so much that our responsibility to find this effective witness is really very great.

The Board Program

What is the function of a general mission board in the light of the foregoing outlook? It means a constant re-evaluation of methods and approaches and a courageous launching out into new dimensions. So we have the indigenizing process at work in India and Argentina, our two oldest fields. There the churches are emerging rapidly and are assuming full responsibility. In new fields like Brazil and Uruguay our modern pioneers are searching for new paths of the spirit to the hearts of a people. In Alaska schoolteachers and storekeepers are self-supporting missionaries. In London, Brussels, Paris, and Algeria our lonely ambassadors are finding ways to make the witness of the Gospel effective in the hearts of men and among groups of related peoples. In Puerto Rico we adapt to a rapidly expanding material economy.

On the home front there is also the growing development of lay evangelism, sometimes called "colonization evangelism." We are becoming increasingly conscious of great segments of need, as for example the Spanish of lower Texas, the Puerto Ricans of the

New York and adjacent areas, or the unevangelized of the deep South. In our cities churches are being established. Hospitals, homes for the aged, child welfare, radio evangelism, publicity, Missions Week with both its teaching as well as its financial aspects—these are the areas where the General Mission Board seeks to give some direction and leadership to make effective the church's witness and service, her outreach and expansion in our time.

Elkhart, Ind.

Mennonite Relief and Service Committee

Boyd Nelson, Secretary for Relief and Service

The Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities administers its relief and service through the Relief and Service Committee. Relief and Service Committee policies are guided by the board, and its administration is part of the total administrative organization of the Board.

As the general relief and service organization of the Mennonite Church, MRSC participates in the Mennonite Central Committee relief, refugee, and mental health and other service programs and operates directly voluntary service and I-W services programs.

I. RELIEF AND REFUGEE AID

Foreign relief, refugee aid and resettlement, and Pax work, as well as some aspects of I-W services and voluntary service, are carried on as part of the inter-Mennonite program of the Mennonite Central Committee. For the nature of the MCC program participation, see the MCC report.

In addition an emergency relief fund is kept on hand at all times for the use of our foreign or home missionaries in cases of local disasters.

A more complete report on all MRSC activities will be found on page 106 of the 1955 Report of Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

II. LONG-TERM VOLUNTARY SERVICE

As of Dec. 1, 1955, the MRSC voluntary service program continues to grow and expand as the draft continues to call young men. Others feel the call to this type of service, and the conviction of the importance of this service grows in our brotherhood. There were approximately 147 workers in voluntary service (Dec. 1, 1955) of which approximately 40 per cent were I-W men. Six basic concepts around which voluntary service is organized and toward realizations of which the staff continues to work are as follows: Christ-centered, church-directed, mission-minded, service-motivated, fellowship-minded, and growth-concerned. Only as these goals are achieved in balance to one another can we feel that our voluntary service program is successful. For VS personnel see Church Organizations in this YEARBOOK.

Foreign Service

Eight workers serve in foreign assignments. They teach in schools, serve in leprosy homes, and do mission construction work. Most are lent to other organizations and are supported on a basis similar to Pax men or earn sufficient money to pay their expenses. A work unit in Algeria of six men is attempting to lay the foundations for a mission in that area.

Community Service Projects

Puerto Rico: Plans for the year 1956 include the opening of the new Aibonito Mennonite Hospital with government financial aid. Medical services in 1956 will include hospital, clinic, and sanitation services. The farm continues witness and aid to the farmers with demonstration, breeding and hatching services, and help on problems. Mission property maintenance is a unit service. Community service also includes recreational and educational activities. Five workers are on loan to El Hogar del Nino and Casa de Salud, children's homes.

Navaho Migrant Unit: The Navaho unit continues service in nursing, Bible study, and recreation.

Mathis, Texas: Service includes home building, maternity home operation, kindergarten, recreational leadership, and mission participation.

Calling Lake, Alberta: This new unit, opened in July of this year, will attempt to meet the needs of the Indian population and other persons in northern Alberta. The medical program will include treatment, education, and sanitation work, and educational assistance will be given by demonstrations on producing and processing foods.

Camp Rehoboth: This unit is a spiritual lighthouse in a growing Negro community and provides a youth program of clubs, chorus, etc.; a kindergarten for preschool and primary children and a community service program of home repair and building and health care.

Hospital Units

Kansas City, Mo.: In addition to serving the City General Hospital as orderlies and nurse aides, the Kansas City VS-ers' service includes children's recreation, Bible classes and club, center facilities for the I-W men and other Mennonite young people, and assistance in the work of the Mennonite Gospel Center.

La Junta Mennonite Hospital and Sanitarium: The La Junta unit works in the hospital as orderlies; aides, housekeepers, laundry, office, and kitchen workers; and maintenance men, also carrying plus service and witness activities, with some deputation work to nearby Mennonite churches.

State University of Iowa Medical Service Unit: Twelve workers are serving in the work at University General Hospital or the University Hospital School for Handicapped Children. They have opportunities to serve the sick and handicapped from all over Iowa with a distinctive concern of Christian love, to witness to the students on the large SUI campus, to participate in the work of the Mennonite Mission Church and in the Mennonite Student Fellowship, and to help the numerous Mennonite employees of the Medical Service Units to realize their Christian witness more fully.

Glenwood Springs, Colo.: I-W approval has been asked and the unit will be built up as workers become available. They will assist in maintenance work around the hospital and in orderly and medical service.

Elgin Hospital Unit: Volunteers work in the Elgin State Hospital and another hospital in the city and assist in nursing service care of both mental and general hospital patients.

Homes for the Aged

Eureka Home for the Aged: At Eureka, Ill., three workers help to make the lives of the aged happier and smoother. They work on the farm, at maintenance work, in the kitchen and laundry, and in general service in the Home.

Froh Brothers Homestead: Three men work on the farm which includes a sizable dairy herd and over 500 acres of farm land, while eight others serve the guests of the home in various capacities.

Other Service Activities

Elkhart Board Headquarters: Several VS-ers are attached to the Elkhart office as secretarial and administrative staff.

Hesston College and Bible School: VS-ers at Hesston enjoy all the advantages of life in the highly spiritual and intellectually stimulating environment of Hesston College in addition to contributing to the college program through service in the offices, kitchen, maintenance shops, and farm operations.

Other Church Institutions: A few workers are also serving in the West Liberty, Ohio, Children's Home, and the Rockome Farm, a home for retired missionaries at Arcola. Here they serve as regular staff members, assisting in caring for the aged or children, as the case may be.

City Missions: The mission stations of our district conferences as well as those of our General Board offer many opportunities for significant service. The work ranges from Sunday school, summer Bible school, and released time religious education classes in the public schools, to recreation leadership in boys' and girls' clubs, guidance of sewing classes, and janitor work in the mission buildings.

Voluntary Service Orientation

To prepare workers for assignments in voluntary service, developing some sense of loyalty to an organized program and a commitment to the idealism from which it springs, orientation periods of ten days or two weeks are arranged as workers begin service. To learn to use the Bible as a tool for spiritual growth and problem solving, to know our heritage as a Mennonite Church, to understand Christian group living, to grasp the implications of the peace testimony for our total lives, and finally to understand how they fit into the local unit and total program, are the purposes for such orientation. The classes meet in the Elkhart headquarters building 1711 Prairie St., while meals are taken and most volunteers live at 1525 Prairie St., the voluntary service center.

Voluntary Service—Summer

In spite of the uncertainties of the draft and the economic situations, and the large numbers of men of the church already in I-W service, there were 76 volunteers serving in 22 units in 1955 Summer Service. MRSC also supported 22 volunteers in MCC summer service units.

III. I-W SERVICES

Services to I-W men include co-ordination among conference I-W services programs and MCC, educational service, assistance to sponsors, operation of living centers, publication of Small Fry, and peace and Christian Living mailings regularly to all I-W men.

I-W men have on the whole been excellent representatives for the church and for Christ. The church provides services not only to strengthen these front-line missionaries against temptations, but to help them so that they may be effective ambassadors for their Saviour. See Mennonite Relief and Service Committee section under Church Organizations for the living and activity centers and the list of workers in I-W Services.

IV. FINANCES

The current (April, 1955, to March, 1956) MRSC budgets include the MCC support for the following things as indicated: relief, $2,000 monthly; refugee aid and resettlement, $1,500 monthly; voluntary service, $500 monthly; Pax, $2,000 monthly; MCC I-W services, $1,000 monthly, or a total of $7,000 monthly for MCC support. Pax men and their families are asked to contribute what they can to their own support in addition.

For its own directly administered program, MRSC has budgeted approximately $7,100 monthly for voluntary service costs including administration, orientation and support for the 147 voluntary service workers in approximately 21 locations, and $2,000 monthly on services to I-W men.

Finances come from the relief and service offerings in local congregations. These offerings provide a systematic base of support for MRSC and MCC operations. Congregations which do not take these offerings are urged to do so in order that they may share in the ministry to physical need and suffering, the provision of service opportunities for those who feel called to serve in this way, and the church's services to its I-W front-line missionaries. An average of 50 cents per member per month will be adequate for carrying on this program.

Peace Problems Committee

Paul Peachey, Secretary

During 1955 the administrative work of the Peace Problems Committee was lighter than it had been in years. This was due to the relative calm on the international scene as well as to the transfer of the pastoral responsibility, earlier carried by this committee, to the MRSC I-W office at Elkhart. On July 1, 1955, Selective Service was renewed for four years and the doctors' draft for another two years. Since this legislation entailed no significant change in CO status, the present I-W program was not affected. At the same time the effort of some years to initiate a peace-time universal training program finally led to partial results in the new reserve bill which allows a certain number of young men to volunteer (in lieu of other services under conscription) for a six-month basic training period, to be followed by seven and one-half years in the active reserve. This is not at all what the advocates of UMT hoped for, but it is an important step in that direction. Significantly, opposition to this bill was relatively light, particularly from the major religious denominations. The Mennonite Central Committee and the National Service Board for Religious Objectors continue to serve our interests in necessary contacts with the federal government.

On the local level in some communities a few problems pertaining to Civil Defense have arisen. Already in 1951 the conviction was registered (General Conference Declaration of Christian Faith and Commitment) that the present program entails difficulty for the participation of nonresistant Christians. As the national CD program has continued to develop, this conviction seems to be well-founded. Further study and observation is intended by both this committee and the Peace Section of MCC.

In the literature program, with the suggestion and co-operation of the MRSC I-W office at Elkhart, Ind., a series of pamphlets is now in preparation by this committee to be mailed periodically to young men reaching the age of seventeen. These are intended to broaden his understanding and deepen his faith as he prepares to face the decision with which Selective Service confronts him. Mailing of literature already available was begun during the year.

The committee has again sponsored the peace essay contest for high-school students. Additional channels must be found, however, to encourage thinking and writing throughout our churches on the peace conviction.

The conversation with nonpacifist churches continues to be fruitful, and new opportunities have developed. Several organizational channels are open at present. Through the MCC Peace Section, Mennonites have been active in the work of the Church Peace Mission, a co-ordinating or sharing agency for Protestant pacifist fellowships. In Europe, the continuation committee of (English) Quakers, American Brethren, and Mennonites has been active. In August, 1955, a theological conference was held at Puidoix, Switzerland, which brought together theologians and other leaders from the peace churches and major continental denominations. Through the Church Peace Mission, Mennonites are now participating in a study on the relationship of love (agape) to the social and political structure. During the year also two articles from the MCC constituency appeared in United Evangelical Action, organ of the National Association of Evangelicals.

Mennonite Publication Board

E. C. Bender, President

The Mennonite Publication Board is set up as a servant of the church in the printing and publishing field. The Board carries out its work through the Mennonite Publishing House located at Scottdale, Pa. The Board consists of thirty-two members: twenty-three members elected by district conferences; three members elected by General Conference; five members at large elected annually by the Board; and the Publishing Agent, member ex officio. This Board meets annually to review the work of the past year and give guidance and directives for the following year.

The Executive Committee, consisting of five members, carries on the business of the Board during the year. The actual work of publishing, printing, and distributing Christian literature in the form of periodicals, educational materials, books, and tracts is done by the Mennonite Publishing House. The Publishing Agent who is appointed by the Board carries the responsibility of the work of the House as well as keeping an ear to the church for their publishing needs. He functions through his division heads. Presently these divisions are as follows: Editorial, Finance, Production, Sales, and Personnel. A Business Manager is appointed to co-ordinate the work of these divisions, thus relieving the Publishing Agent of the details of financing, manufacturing, and distributing. This makes for a smoothly running organization with a wide responsibility.

The objectives of the Board have been stated at various times and in different ways, but in an Executive Committee meeting on March 8, 1955, these were carefully spelled out and adopted. They are as follows:

1. To know and to understand the basic literature needs and demands of the Mennonite Church.
2. To produce or to select for distribution to the Mennonite Church, Christian literature which meets denominational needs and which is of high literary quality, physically attractive, and durable.
3. To provide adequately for the literature needs of every area of the life and work of the Mennonite Church, such as our missionary, educational, and relief work, and of every unit in the church, such as the conference, congregation, home, and indvidual.
4. To give a witness and service by providing and distributing Christian literature outside the denomination.
5. To maintain an institution whose business operations are sound and efficient, and whose personnel and activities exemplify Christian standards of life and conduct.

At this same meeting the Executive Editor presented a proposed statement of Editorial Policies on Church Life. This statement was approved with the hope that it will serve as a guide to our editors in their preparation of all our church literature.

One of the major decisions of the Board at the annual meeting, March 9-10, 1955, was to begin the production of graded Sunday-school materials. This project requires considerable time for planning, outlining, writing, and editing before we can expect to see it coming off the press.

In this highly specialized and competitive age, the House is finding it more and more difficult to produce literature for the church at a margin sufficient to take care of the normal depreciation and the expansion that is needed. This is a challenge to greater consecration and efficiency.

The 1956 Annual Meeting was held at Fisher, Ill., on February 29-March 1.

Martinsburg, Pa.

Mennonite Board of Education

Nelson E. Kauffman, President

The 1955 annual meeting of the Mennonite Board of Education was held at the Iowa Mennonite School, Kalona, Iowa, Oct. 13-15. The first session of the Board, however, was held at Wayland, Iowa, on the afternoon of Oct. 12. This session as well as that evening session was given entirely to consideration of the request from the Mennonite Biblical Seminary of the General Conference Mennonite Church to associate with Goshen College Biblical Seminary in graduate seminary work. After hours of deliberate and prayerful consideration the Board passed an action inviting the Mennonite Biblical Seminary and other Mennonite groups who might be interested, to come to Goshen to set up an Associated Seminaries project. The Board concluded its business sessions on Oct. 13.

The educational meeting planned by the General Educational Council and its six subsidiary councils, are filling an increasingly larger place each year. There were six sectional meetings held during those days as well as two evening sessions of general interest. A meeting of the Mennonite Teachers Association was also on the program. The Educational Agent, C. F. Yake, and the Chairman of the General Educational Council, John R. Mumaw, directed the program. Representatives of our colleges, high schools, and Christian schools from all over the nation attended.

The most thorough and significant study of higher education in the Mennonite Church ever undertaken is now in process under the direction of a Commission set up by the General Education Council. All three colleges of the Mennonite Church, Eastern Mennonite College, Goshen College, and Hesston College are participating. One of the most significant aspects of the study is the confidential and intimate way in which each college is sharing its program, financial resources, constituency, and plans. This will make possible an understanding of the developments and trends as well as goals of Mennonite higher education such as has never been known before. It will reveal attitudes and convictions of parents, students, ministers, faculties, in the constituencies of all three colleges, and reveal the higher education desires and plans of our Mennonite people which the college boards of control will need to reckon with in the development of their respective colleges. It is not now clear just when this large undertaking will be completed, but it is being carried forward with dispatch, and the first results are becoming evident and being evaluated.

The 1955-56 school enrollments are generally higher than those of the previous year. These are expected to grow significantly in the immediate future. This will require the building of new dormitories. Plans for these at Goshen and Hesston are in process. A church-chapel building being constructed conjointly by the college congregation and the college is nearing completion at Hesston and a similar project is in the definite planning stages at Goshen. A nurses' dormitory and an arts building are under construction at Goshen.

Nursing education at La Junta, Colo., is facing serious problems because of the low daily census in the surgical and obstetrical departments of the La Junta Mennonite Hospital. The Board of Education is seeking ways to meet the needs and continue a three-year program of nursing in the western part of our constituency. A school of practical nursing is also in the plans of the Board. The collegiate school of nursing at Goshen College is developing nicely and making an excellent record.

One of the most significant developments of the Mennonite Church in the past quarter century is the extensive change in attitude of our people from opposition to education to conviction for Christian education. There is a growing awareness of the responsibility of Christian parents for the education of their own children. It is the desire of the Board of Education to keep our schools closely united with the church, and dependent upon the brotherhood for support so that the schools may always remain sensitive to the church and servants of Christ and the church in making disciples of all nations, until Jesus comes again. For this purpose, the Board solicits the prayers and support of the brotherhood.

Hannibal, Mo.

Mennonite Commission for Christian Education

Paul M. Lederach, Field Secretary

The Mennonite Commission for Christian Education of Mennonite General Conference has as its area of work the promotion of Christian education in the local congregation. It promotes agencies for education, such as Sunday schools, summer Bible schools, and young people's Bible meetings. It promotes better methods of Christian education through Christian Workers' Training, promotional literature, and the annual theme. It promotes activities for various age groups—for juniors, for youth, and for adults.

During 1955 the Commission, under the Lord's blessing, enjoyed progress in several areas.

The 1955 theme, "Christian Nonconformity," made an impact upon church thinking through the Youth and Nonconformity study course prepared by J. C. Wenger; through articles in the Gospel Herald, in other periodicals, and in the Commission Handbook; and through the simultaneous nonconformity conferences held throughout the church, Sept. 17, 18, 1955. In well over 40 communities leaders and people thought again about the Bible basis of nonconformity along with practical applications to twentieth-century life.

The Sunday school received more attention this year than previously. The Commission co-operated with the Mennonite Publishing House in sponsoring Sunday-school workshops in almost all the conference districts. The workshops not only promoted better methods of work but also provided avenues for acquaintance between editors and constituency and gave the constituency opportunities to share suggestions for improving Sunday-school lesson helps.

The music of the church was given special study in a conference held at Chicago in March. This conference provided a composite picture of the music situation in our church today. It also pointed up the need for the development of a philosophy of church music. Out of the conference came the desire for further study. Another conference will be forthcoming. Plans are also on foot to effect a closer co-operation between the Music Committee and the Commission.

Other significant developments this year are in the areas of Christian Workers' Training, of Sunday evening services, and of junior activities.

The Christian Workers' Training Course is being revised with a new basic course, an advanced course, along with new credit requirements and with the preparation of new textbooks.

The Curriculum Committee outlined a new plan of service for Sunday evening. This was approved by the Commission and sanctioned by the recent General Conference.

In junior activities, the first draft of a manual has been completed and a study conference is planned for 1956.

During this year, the Curriculum Committee has continued working on the graded Sunday-school curriculum project. At this writing the outlines are almost completed. It is planned that writing should begin in the summer of 1956.

Looking ahead the Commission has a number of significant plans for the coming year. First, the theme, "Knowing and Using the Bible," is to receive widespread emphasis. Second, the Fifth Sunday School Convention is to be held at Goshen, Ind., Aug. 9-12, 1956. Third, the Commission and Publication Board have approved plans for closer co-operation between the Mennonite Publishing House and the Commission, which should bring about better co-ordination of work in those areas of overlapping interests.

The officers of the Commission remain largely the same except for the chairman. John R. Mumaw finished a decade of effective leadership in this capacity. Because of responsibilities elsewhere he terminated his connections with the Commission. We are fortunate, however, in securing Richard C. Detweiler, Perkasie, Pa., as the new chairman.

The Commission continues to seek the prayer and counsel of the brotherhood for guidance in its many areas of service. Scottdale, Pa.

Mennonite Mutual Aid

H. L. Swartzendruber, Secretary

The Mennonite General Conference sponsors Mennonite Mutual Aid. Six of its possible twelve directors are elected at the biennial session of the Conference. This committee is responsible for the entire work of the Mennonite Mutual Aid and its subsidiary organizations. However, the detailed operations of the subsidiary corporations are carried on by Board of Directors specifically chosen for that particular program. In 1945 the Mennonite Mutual Aid committee set up a nonprofit corporation in the state of Indiana to carry out its assignment as stated in its legal object: "To provide a channel within the Mennonite Church through which its members with financial resources may accumulate, loan, invest, or contribute such resources; to assist through loans or other means, from the financial resources of the Mennonite Church, those Mennonite families or individuals having a need of such financial assistance in establishing a home, providing a basis for a livelihood, meeting unexpected contingencies or for other commendable purposes, especially, those who because of their nonresistant beliefs are not eligible for government benefits; to provide financial counsel and vocational placement services for members; and to provide facilities for the investment of any funds entrusted to the Corporation by any Mennonite member or organization."

While many of the services offered are similar in nature to those offered by the commercial world, yet these programs are designed to give the Christian an expression of brotherhood in accordance with the Scriptural belief and doctrines of the Mennonite Church. A brotherhood program contrasts itself with commercial plans in that the basis is not profit but helpfulness, joy in assisting others not selfishness, Christian love for one's brother not an impersonal commercial transaction. As the members of the Mennonite Church became more urban with weekly pay checks rather than a rural community as heretofore, Mennonite Mutual Aid is able to provide systematic methods so that the family can help itself and, at the same time, give help to others as need arises in a way in keeping with Mennonite historical practices and Scriptural teachings. Following is a description of the activities presently carried on by the Mennonite Mutual Aid committee.

Mutual Aid Loans. A fund was established in 1945 by those interested in helping young people and others in need of loan funds to establish themselves in farming, business, or to provide modest housing where satisfactory local credit is not available and where the applicant's character and witness justifies assistance.

Investments. Various categories are open allowing investment of funds in the Mennonite Mutual Aid organizations so as to assist various young people or special projects. Some of these categories provide for interest income in various amounts depending on the purpose for which the funds are used and the length of time which the money is made available for that use.

Financial Counseling Service. Considerable time and effort are spent helping young people and others with financial problems or directing them to qualified counselors living in their vicinity. Too many of our people are living beyond their means so that when a slight reverse comes they are financially entangled and helpless. Someone has aptly said that our effective Mennonite witness in many of our communities is beclouded by the unchristian financial ethics and practices of some of its members. Since people come to Mennonite Mutual Aid after they are in financial difficulty, it is often impossible to repair the damage done. A positive program of teaching must be provided in our church to assist our people in understanding the various implications involved.

Refugee Loan Aid. No additional refugee loans have been made in the past several years. Repayment of principal and interest continues on funds previously loaned through the Mennonite Central Committee to our refugee brethren. The balances as reported in the Statistical Section are the net amounts due on these accounts.

Colonization. Mennonite Mutual Aid is interested in assisting, in whatever way possible, mass migrations of our people. The committee has not implemented any migrations, although various investigations of reasonable possibilities have been made.

Community Placement Service. An office facility is provided to make possible placing ads in the Christian Living magazine which have community interest and make possible business opportunities, farming opportunities, help wanted, etc. We are happy to report that during the first year of operation, there have been a number of instances where our ads have resulted in successful placement prospects.

Mennonite Aid, Inc. By legal necessity the hospitalization, surgical, and burial aid sharing program was incorporated in 1950 as a nonprofit corporation according to Pennsylvania law. The members of the Board of Directors of this subsidiary corporation are separate and have skills and interests necessary for the satisfactory operation of this plan. In 1955 the benefit schedule was revised as a result of five years' experience which showed that further help for long-term confinements was needed. The revision of benefits has resulted in a small increase in assessment. The popularity of the revised program is evident in a substantial increase in membership since July 1, 1955. The revised benefit schedule, which is very competitive in this area of service, together with the Catastrophe Aid Fund, makes possible a system of complete aid where help is needed among members of the Mennonite Aid program. We believe that with a larger percentage of the Mennonite Church participating in this aid program, we will continue to see a more complete program of aid among the members of the Mennonite Church.

Mennonite Automobile Aid. This subsidiary corporation (under the Pennsylvania laws also) began operation Jan. 1, 1955. It provides collision and comprehensive benefits to its members. While there is some feeling that the sharing of damages toward automobiles through this plan will result in a saving, yet the main emphasis of the program lies in the witness of subrogation. In practically all commercial collision-comprehensive policies, there is a clause providing for subrogation which allows the insurance company to sue for the collection of any damages in the name of the insured. In many cases this privilege is abused, to say nothing of the unscriptural procedure. This plan therefore guarantees replacement of the registered vehicle. It does not provide liability insurance.

Liability Insurance. As a part of the assignment from Mennonite General Conference in 1953, Mennonite Mutual Aid was to attempt to set up a program of automobile aid. This resulted in the subsidiary corporation mentioned above. However, it was not feasible to include bodily injury, property damage, or medical liability insurance. As a result, the Mennonite Mutual Aid committee discovered a Mennonite-operated company which had ample reserves, legal license, over twenty years' experience in this field, and was operating according to Mennonite belief and practice. This company, the Goodville Mutual Casualty Company, Goodville, Pa., is expanding its facilities to serve Mennonites in other states. The Mennonite Mutual Aid committee feels that this is a most satisfactory arrangement.

The Mennonite Foundation. This Indiana nonprofit corporation was set up separately by Mennonite Mutual Aid to conform to the requirements of the Internal Revenue laws of the United States. Contributions, which are deposited with The Foundation, are deductible on income tax returns and deposits may be directed to recognized charities at the donor's convenience. Various advantages in using The Foundation are apparent. A number of our Mennonite corporations and members having large incomes are availing themselves of the services of The Mennonite Foundation.

Other Services Planned. Mennonite Mutual Aid committee has approved a plan for systematic savings which will be announced after Jan. 1, 1956. Subcommittees are studying the need and feasibility of plans for disability aid and widows' rehabilitation. A subcommittee, including members of the administerial committee, is studying a plan for a ministers' retirement fund.

The Mennonite Mutual Aid committee is continually seeking methods of improving its programs so as to be equitable and helpful to all and to perpetuate the historic Mennonite practices of mutual aid in light of the times in which we are living and according to the Scriptures as taught in the Mennonite Church.

Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

H. Raymond Charles, Vice-President

Organization and Work

The Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities is the district mission board of Lancaster Conference. Its membership is composed of 35 brethren representing every bishop district within the conference. The Board meets in regular bimonthly session to transact the matters that come before it. This Board administers the program at 86 home mission points scattered from New York City to Tampa, Fla., and the work in five foreign fields.

Committees and Their Work

There are various committees which function within the Board or in a board relationship. The Executive Committee meets before regular Board meeting to prepare an agenda. The Nominating Committee prepares the slate for elections within the Board. The Property Committee is in charge of the maintenance of the Board's $480,000 worth of property as well as of the construction of new buildings. The Tent Committee is charged with the responsibility of caring for the Board's five tents. It schedules their use in Bible school and evangelistic work and is personally responsible for setting up the tents at the place where they are to be used. The Examining Committee is responsible to examine missionary personnel to discover their doctrinal fitness before they are actually appointed to their field. The Jewish Evangelism Committee gives special attention to promoting and directing work among the Jews. Jewish centers have been established in Philadelphia and Washington, where in each case, there are full-time workers. The Mission Welfare Committee gives attention to welfare concerns that face us in connection with mission work. The children's visitation program is operated under this committee as is also a children's camp program.

During the year the Material Aid Committee was changed to a Relief and Service Committee. This committee functions in sponsoring relief projects and also in the area of disaster relief service. A Christian day school is operated in connection with the mission in Tampa, Fla. This school is administered by the Sharon School Board. To serve as "eyes" for the Board in investigating and locating new fields of mission opportunities in the home field, the Itinerant Evangelism Committee functions in a close working relationship to the Board. Likewise the Voluntary Service Committee functions in administering some VS projects within the conference area. It serves in an appreciable capacity in channeling workers into the service projects under church and mission sponsorship.

Boulder Lake near Wernersville, Pa., and Guilford, Md., are the two new names to be added to the growing list of home mission points. Steelton, Guilford, West Chester, and the Creek Indian Mission moved into new or renovated buildings during the year. An increasing number of brethren and sisters are moving into newly established mission congregational areas. Two families moved into Georgia during the year. Others have moved into other areas in Pennsylvania and New York. The Board urges young people to locate in new areas and seeks to give guidance to those who are interested in doing so.

Foreign Mission Fields

One hundred and four foreign missionaries serve under this Board in five separate foreign fields. The Tanganyika mission was opened in 1934. This marked the first Mennonite mission work in Africa. Fourteen years later, in 1948, the Board opened mission work in Ethiopia. In 1950 another foreign mission was begun in Honduras, a much-neglected field near home. A year later, in 1951, the first workers entered another new field, this time in Luxembourg. The last established foreign mission was again in Africa in 1953, and is now known as the Somalia mission. During 1955 the Board authorized further expansion in foreign missions by approving the entry by this Board into Sumatra. As the year comes to a close, workers are being "prayed out" for this new field. Each of the five fields named above represents a different type of missionary field. The Lord's blessing upon the work is evidenced by the faithful loving services performed by workers who are faithfully giving themselves to the tasks on these "five porches" of world need.

During the year furloughed missionaries have been at home from four of these five foreign fields. The presence of these folks among the supporting brotherhood has helped to arouse an even deeper missionary concern in the church at home. The Missionary Messenger, official monthly publication of the Board, continues to serve as a tool to report to the church on her program. During the year an anniversary meeting was held at the Paradise Church commemorating 60 years of organized mission activity in Lancaster Conference.

Lancaster, Pa.

Mennonite Central Committee

Margaret Jantzi, Director of Information Service

The Mennonite Central Committee represents Mennonite and Brethren in Christ conferences in the United States and Canada in a ministry to underprivileged and needy peoples throughout the world. In many cases it is a "scout" into the new; it lays foundations upon which the church can build; its work is a witness to the love of Christ.

The Committee is made up of representatives from all the Mennonite groups in United States and Canada. They meet annually to review the program, plan for the future, and elect an executive committee. This Executive Committee meets during the year as required.

The Relief Section of MCC has 81 workers serving in Austria, France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, Jordan, India, Formosa, Viet—Nam, Japan, Java, and Korea. In Europe the mass clothing and food distributions of the postwar years have been discontinued. During 1955 MCC youth workers, writers of Sunday-school and summer Bible school materials, children's home workers, a youth pastor and other young people have been working with and helping the reawakening European Mennonite churches. However, the refugees from the East Zone in Berlin and in recently liberated Austria still need gifts of food and clothing.

In Jordan the work centers around the 900,000 Arab refugees who have already lived seven years in exile from their homes. Besides the clothing and food distributions, there are small self-help projects including shoemaking and woodworking schools for boys and sewing classes for women. The MCC has an orphan boys' home at Hebron and three medical clinics nearby. In December the increasing tension between Arabs and Israelis and the bitter hopelessness of the refugees' situation erupted into riots. The MCC warehouse in Jericho was burned at this time.

In the Far East many people still suffer from recent wars which ended with both Korea and Indo-China partitioned. The refugees in both countries, but particularly in Korea, need food and clothing. Close to Taegu, the MCC center in Korea, the unit found 13 villages where about 3,000 people are living on near starvation level.

In the latter part of 1955 MCC sent a doctor to Viet—Nam to open medical work there. Formosa and Java also have strong medical programs. On the island of Celebes in Indonesia the MCC now helps to care for 93,000 refugees, many of them Christians, who are victims of terrorist bands who rule the mountains. The Leonard Kingsley family also plans to go to the island of Timor in Indonesia to help improve dairy cattle production and farming. A number of MCC workers are seconded to other institutions or service agencies in many of these countries.

During 1955 Mennonites contributed 265 tons of food and 27,908 Christmas bundles through MCC. Besides this we shipped about 678 tons of government food surplus.

The Mennonite Aid Section is concerned with our Mennonite brethren—particularly those who have emigrated to South America and Mexico. They also assist refugees in emigrating to the United States or Canada. In 1955 they began working toward an agreement between the Paraguayan government, U.S. Technical Assistance, and MCC for constructing a Trans-Chaco roadway from Asuncion, Paraguay, into the Chaco and on to the Bolivian border. A mental hospital, a leprosy project and an agricultural experimental farm also serve the Mennonites in Paraguay. MCC maintains centers for transients or those working in the cities in Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay, and Sao Paulo, Brazil.

During the year a number of Mennonite disaster service organizations have been formed. These have now asked MCC to act as co-ordinator, clearing information and news and representing them to the National Red Cross.

The Peace Section interprets the Christian pacifist position to our government. During this past year much of the work in Washington, D.C., was concerned with naturalization procedures for conscientious objectors, draft classification problems, and the pending universal military training plans. The Peace Section entered a new field of activity in Japan this year. Melvin Gingerich was appointed to a two-year term as an "ambassador for peace" there. In Europe Peace Section representatives helped to plan and carry out a historic conference at Puidoix, Switzerland. This was unique in that for the first time since the early days of the Reformation Anabaptist church leaders and theologians of the Reformed and Lutheran churches could discuss together the theological issues of "The Lordship of Christ over Church and State."

Pax is the program for I-W men serving outside the United States. A total of 95 young Pax men now serve in construction, agricultural rehabilitation, roadbuilding, and specialized assignments in Germany, Austria, Holland, France, Jordan, Korea, Greece, Peru, and Paraguay. In the United States the I-W Services office is increasingly concerned with preparing young men spiritually and emotionally for their two-year period of I-W service.

The Voluntary Service Section is pioneering to bring our church into contact with relatively unknown areas of human need. This year the emphasis was on juvenile delinquency. And four schoolteachers, a pastor, and a nurse opened a VS unit in Newfoundland. Voluntary Service, either for a year or for a summer, channels Mennonite young people to many divergent needs—migrants, mentally ill, crippled children, delinquent, or ill.

At Ailsa Craig, Ont., the MCC opened and dedicated a boys' farm—first Mennonite institution for delinquent or emotionally maladjusted children. With a staff of five, the farm now has seven boys. The capacity will be 20. A new warehouse was constructed at Newton, Kans.

The Mental Health Service operates three mental hospitals: Brook Lane Farm at Hagerstown, Md. (1949), Kings View Homes at Reedley, Calif. (1951), and Prairie View Hospital, Newton, Kans. (1954). On Nov. 30 a local contractor began erecting the new kitchen-dining room at Brook Lane Farm. During 1955 plans were laid for a fourth hospital to be located somewhere in the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan-Illinois area. Beginning in 1956 the Mental Health Section will conduct four pre-service training schools each year for new workers.

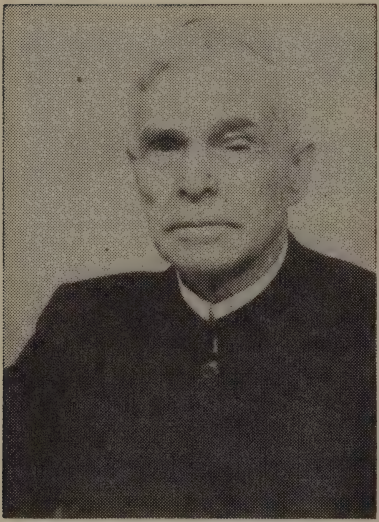
D. D. Miller, 1864-1955

John C. Wenger



Daniel D. Miller, son of Daniel P. Miller (1837-1911) and his wife Anna Hershberger (d. 1906), was born Dec. 10, 1864, in Lagrange County, Ind.; died Jan. 19, 1955, at the advanced age of ninety years. As a young man he prepared himself for schoolteaching, which profession he followed for twenty years; but most of his life he was a farmer-preacher, eminently successful in both fields. On May 26, 1889, he was united in marriage with "Nettie" (Jeanette) Hostetler, sister of Bishop O. S. Hostetler. To this union the following thirteen children were born: Susan, 1890; Henry, 1891; Orie O., 1892; Ernest E., 1893; Truman T., 1895; Ida, 1896; Clara, 1898; Wilbur W., 1899; Kathryn, 1900; Bertha, 1902; Alice, 1903; Samuel S., 1908; Mabel, 1909. The first two died when quite young. The other eleven all taught school for shorter or longer periods of time. Orie became the executive secretary of the Mennonite Central Committee; Ernest, a missionary to India and president of Goshen College; and Samuel, a bishop in the Indiana-Michigan Conference.

When Daniel was about thirteen years of age he came under the conviction of sin and felt that he ought to become a Christian. He was dissuaded from doing so because of the Amish Mennonite custom in that era of baptizing at a somewhat later time in life. After a time this conviction that he ought to yield to Christ left him, and according to his own account later, he became a self-righteous young man. As an aged bishop he told publicly how as a young man in his early twenties he was living in Cass County, Missouri, and was satisfied not to be in the church. When his younger brother spoke to him about becoming a Christian he retorted that he was just as good as "a lot of your church members." That very night he experienced a dream or vision—he was uncertain just what it was—in which God seemed to make it clear to him that he would be killed the next day. Thereupon Daniel lay in bed, weeping and praying for God to spare him. He vowed to God to serve Him all his days if He would but save his life.

The next day in the felling of a tree, the workmen miscalculated as to how the tree would fall. Daniel ran for his life and the falling tree came so close to crushing him that his clothes were caught. Yet his life was spared. His divine call of the night before now became even more significant, and Daniel kept his vow. He yielded to Christ, and was received into the Amish Mennonite Church. At that time it was still customary to wear hooks and eyes, rather than buttons, on the vest only, for the Amish Mennonite brotherhood felt that some definite symbol of nonconformity had to be retained or the principle itself would be lost. The bishop acknowledged to Daniel that this regulation would likely not be permanent, but that it was of that time still in force. Daniel graciously yielded and sealed his vows with water baptism.

After some time in Missouri, Daniel decided to return to northern Indiana. When Ed. Gegax was ordained preacher at Forks in 1887, Daniel was one who advocated that the brother ought to be helped financially because of the misfortunes which befell him economically. In 1890 the Forks congregation near Middlebury decided to ordain a deacon. The lot fell on D. D. Miller and the young bishop, D. J. Johns, ordained him to that office on Oct. 18, 1890. One year and two days later the congregation decided by a congregational vote that "D. D.," as he was familiarly known (he once told the writer that he thought many members of the Forks Church did not even know what his first name was), should be ordained as a minister of the Gospel. From the very start he was willing to preach for the Mennonites as well as his Amish Mennonite brotherhood, and for that reason, about a year after his ordination he decided to adopt the "plain coat" which the Mennonite preachers wore, although the Amish Mennonites of northern Indiana no longer required it. He rapidly gained in influence and effectiveness, and on Good Friday, April 13, 1906, he was ordained bishop by the vote of the church, and J. Y. Hooley was ordained deacon. All three of D. D.'s ordinations were performed by D. J. Johns, his lifelong friend and colleague.

The rest of the story is too long to report in full. D. D. traveled far and wide in the church, preaching, holding evangelistic meetings, and serving as a Bible conference instructor. His sermons were well prepared and well organized; he had a pleasing and effective delivery, a clear voice, and a sound Gospel message. He was also a good pastor in his home church, and a strict disciplinarian. In his prime he also did some writing; for example, his "Question and Answer" column in the Gospel Herald of 1909, the "Home Counsel" department. He wrote several sections of the Bible Doctrine book of 1914 including the one on the devotional covering. He was active in Mennonite General Conference, on the Board of Education, and especially on the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities of which he served as president and later as treasurer.

He also carried a heavy load in the bishop work and conference leadership both in the Indiana-Michigan Amish Mennonite Conference from 1891 to 1916, and in the united conference after its merger with the Mennonites. He was the first moderator of the united conference, 1916-17. He continued his heavy load of bishop work until the collapse of his health in his eightieth year, early in 1944. After many months of illness he recovered sufficiently to again attend church services. On April 7, 1945, he gave a moving testimony at the East Ministers' meeting (the ministry in Indiana east of Goshen meet semiannually), speaking of the spiritual lessons learned in his illness, and of how God had drawn him closer to Himself.

In the last decade of his life the aged pilgrim grew weaker and his powers began to fail. His sight grew dim and he was in general quite a contrast to what he had been in his vigorous seventies. Finally at 9:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1955, the old patriarch fell asleep in the Lord, and was gathered to his fathers. Funeral services were conducted on Jan. 23, the following Sunday, by J. D. Graber, executive secretary of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Burial was made by the side of his companion in the Forest Grove Cemetery southeast of Middlebury. He had "fought a good fight," he had "finished [his] course," he had "kept the faith." He belonged to that generation of leaders which guided our brotherhood through the changes which accompanied the transition from the horse and buggy days of his childhood to the present atomic age. He was a faithful servant of the Lord Jesus, with one master passion: to shepherd the church aright, and to extend the borders of Christ's kingdom.

Eli S. Hallman, 1866-1955

T. K. Hershey

Eli S. Hallman, born Feb. 26, 1866, departed from this life Aug. 25, 1955; aged 89 years, 5 months, 29 days. He was the sixth child in a family of twelve.

On Aug. 9, 1893, he married Melinda B. Clemens. Their five children are Clemens, George, William, Abram, and Anna (Mrs. B. Frank Byler). Clemens preceded his father to the glory land, Aug. 23, 1927. The children all are Christians; two are missionaries to Argentina, William and Anna.

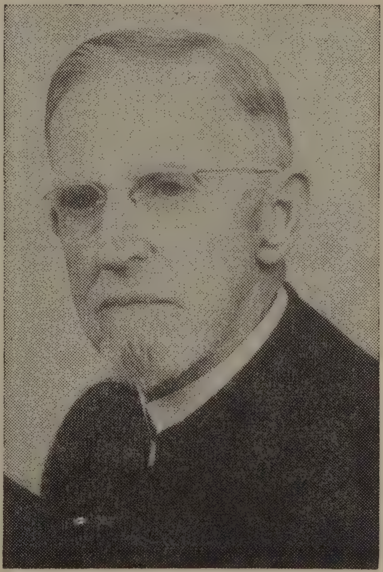
At the age of 21, he and his brother united with the Methodist Church, because the Mennonite Church was not active and flourishing as it is today. Many other of their friends, Mennonite descendants, also united with the Methodist Church. Brother Hallman writes, "We were still unsaved and sang in the choir. However, the Holy Spirit was convicting us of our sins and the need of a Saviour. My preference all the while was the Mennonite Church way of life to which we finally returned."

Sister Hallman, too, had united with the Methodist Church. However, due to a revival conducted by J. S. Coffman at the Blenheim Church, both Brother and Sister Hallman united with the Mennonite Church. It was not long until the talents which Brother Hallman possessed were seen, and soon he was called to the ministry.

The work of the church at Waterloo, Kitchener, Breslau, and surrounding districts grew steadily. The need for more ministerial help was felt. Two were ordained by lot. Eli S. Hallman was one of them. This ordination took place on June 17, 1897. "His first sermon was John 12:32 at the age of 31 at the First Mennonite Church in Kitchener, Ontario, Canada."

During the first seven years of his ministry, he spent the greater part of his time in conducting evangelistic services in Ontario and parts of the United States. He felt that the most effective revival was held at his home church, Kitchener. It continued for four weeks when many souls accepted Christ.

In 1905 at the age of 39, a number of families moved West to the Mennonite Reserve in central Saskatchewan where a tract of land of thirty or forty square miles was opened by the government and set aside especially for the colonization of Mennonites.



Many considered going West to this colony, but they had no minister. After much consultation and prayer, Brother Hallman consented to go with them to be their pastor. During the following years, trainloads of families moved West. Brother Hallman's first sermon for the new colony was Heb. 11:8-10. The new congregation was named Sharon, because of the vast prairie dotted with clusters of red fragrant flowers, calling to mind the rose of Sharon. One of the first visiting minisiters to hold meetings for this new congregation was A. D. Wenger of the United States.

The work in Saskatchewan continued to expand and develop. Soon a conference was organized, called Alberta-Saskatchewan. More ministerial help was needed, and Brother Hallman was ordained bishop. The ordination took place in his home congregation, Kitchener, Ont., in 1907 to be bishop of the Alberta-Saskatchewan District.

One of the gifts that Brother Hallman possessed was the selection of texts suitable for the occasion. When the Sharon Church was dedicated, he chose the text in Ps. 100:4. In the spring of 1912, his message for the baccalaureate sermon at Hesston College was based on the text John 2:14.

With regard to his preaching, his son William S. Hallman of Argentina writes: "As to his sermon text material I can easily remember that two of his favorite themes were 'Grace' and 'Second Coming.' He had consideration and brotherly love for ministers of other denominations, especially for the General Conference ministers of nearby communities. This attitude brought him invitations to take part in many of their special services, but he never apologized for our own peculiar practices as old Mennonites. He tried to be firm and exercise redemptive love in the teaching of these doctrines and he was Biblical in his teaching. He also greatly enjoyed teaching in the district winter Bible schools, of which he was long one of the main promoters. He was also a great enthusiast in the support of missions. The proof of this was the sacrificial joy of Brother and Sister Hallman in encouraging Anna (Mrs. B. Frank Byler) to enter the foreign field, she being the only daughter and the youngest child at home."

It was during this same year that the Hallmans moved to Goshen, Ind., where for three years he was Field Secretary for Goshen College. While he was engaged in the work of the Lord, holding evangelistic meetings, helping in Bible conferences, assisting in bishop work, attending board meetings and institutions throughout the church, other fields were awaiting his enthusiasm and help.

This time they moved to Grand Bay, Ala., where they resided two years. In 1917, they moved to Allemands, La. Here they lived two years, then again returned to Guernsey, Sask., in February, 1920. In his booklet, Hallman-Clemens Genealogy, he writes:

> "We can trust His hand to lead us,
> We can trust His arm to shield us;
> We are in our Father's keeping,
> We are in our Father's care."

Many and varied were the things that came into the lives of this dear couple from 1920 to 1928. In 1920, the Alberta-Saskatchewan Conference organized a Mission Board, with Brother Hallman as president. In July, he attended the Dakota-Montana Conference. Here he preached the conference sermon; likewise at the Alberta-Saskatchewan Conference. This was followed by a series of evangelistic meetings at Lake View, and still another of six weeks at Alberta, Mount View, West Zion, and Salem churches. This work Brother Hallman enjoyed.

Much could be written of Brother Hallman's activities with the British and Foreign Bible Society and the work of the Colonization Board which brought thousands from Russia to Canada. As a member of the executive committee, much of his time was put into this work. To add to his already busy life, he was made editor of the Christian Review, a paper destined to aid the thousands of Germans in the English language.

After a personal visit to Texas, it was finally decided for health reasons to locate there. Before leaving Saskatchewan, he ordained M. H. Schmitt. Brother Hallman writes: "We have no abiding city here; again we move, this time to Texas." En route to Texas, at the Missouri-Kansas Conference, he was authorized to have bishop oversight of the churches in Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. After four years with H. F. Reist and family in the Falfurrias district, the Hallmans moved to Tuleta in 1933 which was to be their home for the next 18 years.

Having now arrived at an age to leave off responsibilities of the congregation, they moved for the last time in the late summer of 1951 to Akron, Pa., near their son Abram where they lived until Brother Hallman's passing away Aug. 25, 1955.

In Hallman-Clemens Genealogy, Brother Hallman makes a summary: In 1897, I was ordained to the ministry in Kitchener, Ont. In 1907, I was ordained bishop at the same place. I participated in 15 ordinations; attended 21 General Conferences; assisted in 9 church dedications. Editor of a church paper; held many Bible conferences, evangelistic meetings, funerals, and special meetings.

He wrote further that one of the most impressive meetings he ever attended was the one in Elkhart, Ind., when J. A. Ressler and Dr. Page were called to be the first Mennonite missionaries to India.

My last visit with Brother Hallman was just nine days before his passing. Before prayer he was asked what song he would like us to sing; he said, "When the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there." His words on his last day of life were, "I have a covenant today. Today I must leave this bed." That afternoon, his spirit took its flight "to be with Christ which is far better." Thus ends a busy life for his Lord and the church. Funeral services were conducted at Monterey, Pa., with burial at Breslau, Ont.

I. S. Mast, 1874-1955

A. L. Glick

Isaac Stoltzfus Mast, more familiarly known as I. S. Mast, was born near Morgantown, Pa., July 13, 1874; died at his Chester County home near Embreeville, Aug. 24, 1955. His family consisted of his companion, two sons, and three daughters. He was the first to break the family circle.

As a young man he had an urge to go West. At the age of twenty-one he went as far as Ohio, but it was not the time. He returned to Lancaster County where he worked for his brother in a feed mill. At this time he was not a Christian and did not attend church. It was during the time that M. S. Steiner was holding meetings in Lancaster County, three services at a place, that he became concerned about his spiritual condition. Two of his aunts, a cousin, and Brother Steiner had special prayer for him each day. He was invited to attend the services, which he did, and became concerned about his lost condition.

One day as he worked in the mill he became so burdened that he went to a corner alone and prayed for peace and pardon. He prayed if there was a God He should give him peace and he would go with Him the darkest night and the stormiest weather wherever He might lead, if only he could find peace of soul. Little did he realize where this commitment would lead him. He gave himself up to Bishop Isaac Eby, was baptized, and received into the Old Road Church at White Horse, Pa.

Later he moved to Belleville, Mifflin County, where he became active in Sunday-school and church work. About the time of his marriage to Fanny R. Yoder, Jan. 13, 1901, he was working on the railroad as a trackman. Later he became fireman. He had a great desire to become a railroad engineer, but this ambition was never realized. A year before his ordination he was employed by Hertzler-Zook in the foundry at Belleville.

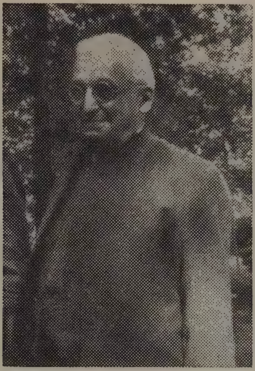
At this time several families were planning to migrate to North Dakota and tried to persuade him to go along. D. D. Miller was holding meetings in the valley and he advised the ministry to organize the group and ordain a minister to accompany them. When his employer found out that the group was urging Isaac to accompany them, he was offered a position as foreman and a raise in salary if he remained with the company. He was much disturbed. At night he walked the floor because he could not sleep. He even told the group that they should go ahead and try it for a year. If it was all right he would follow a year later.

The Maple Grove and Allensville churches called for a joint meeting on March 15, 1903. Communion services were held and votes were taken for a minister for the migrating families. I. S. Mast was chosen, much against his will, to move to North Dakota and be a shepherd to the new flock. Bishop Michael Yoder gave him the charge. He was beginning to realize what his commitment in the old mill in Lancaster was going to mean.

In the new location he found himself confronted not only with the burdens and responsibilities of a minister of the Gospel with no education and a very limited knowledge of the Word, but also with the problems of making a living in a new and untried frontier. He was a shop man and not a farmer. In this new country farming seemed to be the only way to make a living. He applied himself diligently to the study of the Word and prayed much.

The work of the ministry often took him away from home. There were scattered and isolated families that needed spiritual help and often called for him. There were also small groups of believers who needed to be organized and ministered to. It was through his faithful efforts that congregations were organized at Minot, Kenmare, Casselton, and Wolford in North Dakota; at Coalridge, Bloomfield, and Clyde Park, Montana; at Ulen and Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, and at some places in Wisconsin. Besides this he was called to various places throughout the church from east to west to hold evangelistic meetings.

For a number of years the new territory was a part of the Missouri-Iowa Conference District. Early in his ministry, in June, 1908, he was ordained to the office of bishop by Daniel Kauffman. This work often called him away from home and family and parish over week ends. It often meant riding the train on Saturday night, preaching twice on Sunday, and returning by train again on Sunday night, arriving home early Monday forenoon to take his place in the field with the rest of the farmers. The expense of these trips was sometimes met by selling butter and eggs on the streets of Minot. He believed that God answers prayer, and his faith was often put to the test.



On one occasion he had an urgent call, but there was no money for a railroad ticket. Being sure the call was from God, he trusted Him to provide the means. He walked to Surrey to take the train, but still without any money. As he walked through the village a man met him who made no profession of Christianity. Said the man, "Are you called away again?" and reaching into his pocket gave him enough to pay his fare.

On another occasion he lacked five cents of having enough to buy a ticket home. He prayed that God would provide the nickel. As he sat in the station an Indian whom he had never met and whom he never saw again, came and handed him a dime, an answer to prayer. Now he could also have a cup of coffee.

Instances could also be given to show how he was called upon to keep his commitment that he made in the old mill in Lancaster County. On one occasion when he arrived at a small town, there was no one to meet him. His appointment was fourteen miles from the town. Bad weather had prevented the delivery of mail. It was night and thirty below zero. He had no money for lodging. He undertook to walk as he had often done before. But this time it was too much for him. He stopped at a farm home at two o'clock at night cold, tired, and hungry. Here he was kindly received and cared for. He always depended on the Lord to care for his family and only on one occasion was he ever called home on account of illness in the family.

When he retired from the field in 1942 he served for a short time as superintendent of the Johnstown Mission. Later he served the group at Greenwood, Del., locating at Embreeville, Pa. During the last years of his life he was confined to his home with a heart condition, but he was blessed with a clear mind to the last. He maintained a strong interest in church and mission activities. His greatest concern was for the lost and dying world for whom Christ died.

At last, after he had followed his Lord through many dark nights and weathered many bad storms, he was called to enter into rest. Funeral services were conducted Aug. 28, 1955, by Christian Kurtz, Abner Stoltzfus, and Aaron Stoltzfus. His body rests in Pine Grove Cemetery near Elverson, Pa.

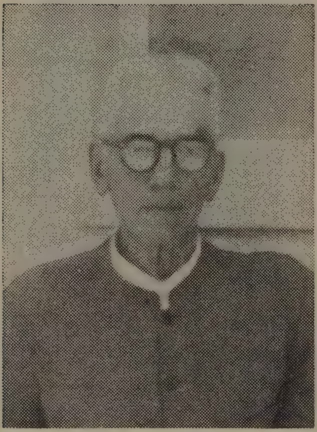
Frederick J. Gingerich, 1878-1955

N. A. Lind



Frederick J. Gingerich, son of Joseph C. and Catherine Swartzendruber Gingerich, was born Sept. 15, 1878, near Green Center, Iowa; passed from this life at his desert home, in Paradise Valley, fifteen miles north of Phoenix, Ariz., July 15, 1955; aged 76 years and 10 months.

He lived his early years in Iowa, though not all in the immediate community of his birth. He was blessed with a strong body, of large physique, and with a calm and pleasing disposition. At the age of fifteen he with his parents located at Clarion, in Johnson County, Iowa, where on the farm he grew to manhood. Early in his life he accepted Christ as his Saviour and was received into the Mennonite Church by baptism, September, 1895, Bishop S. J. Swartzendruber officiating.

As a young Christian he became active in the Sunday school, serving as teacher and later as superintendent. While he did not attend high school and college, he was nevertheless a real student, quick in figures, careful in language, and an extensive reader—the foundation stones of his future busy and useful life.

On Dec. 22, 1901, he was married to Katie Leichty, and together their home and church life was one of interest and concern in spiritual service. This led to his call and ordination to the ministry on Jan. 10, 1909. At that time a double ordination was held at the East Union Church, Kalona, Iowa, when Brother Gingerich and D. J. Fisher were ordained, with Daniel Kauffman officiating. Here Brother Gingerich served as a minister until 1913. In that year he answered a call to serve as pastor of the West Fairview congregation, Beaver Crossing, Nebr., and with that congregation he labored in the ministry for about six years.

In 1919 their interests were aroused in the church in the Far West to the extent that they chose to locate in Oregon, near the Bethel Church, which was then unorganized. It was only a few months, however (May 4, 1919), when this became an organized congregation, and with this brotherhood he was actively identified throughout all his remaining years. The congregation took on healthy growth, and on July 3, 1921, Brother Gingerich was ordained to the office of bishop. In this capacity he was also called to assist and serve a number of other congregations in counsel and oversight.

As a counselor and adviser his service reached far beyond his own congregation. His ministry and influence as a bishop vitally affected the entire conference district. Because of his balanced, cautious, yet aggressive, outlook, he was called to serve in much committee work of various kinds. About the time of his ordination as bishop he served on the Merger Committee, which was far-reaching in its influence in the church. He was conference moderator and assistant moderator a number of times.

Among his valued labors was the part he took and the interest he displayed in the youth of the church in the way of providing within his district, high-school advantages. When a school was anticipated, his interest soon found him a place on the school committee. This committee began to function about the year 1944, and he was chairman of that committee for some ten years. His service in this office was very highly appreciated. The same economical business attitude he exercised in his own personal affairs was exercised and urged in the launching and maintaining of the Western Mennonite School, and was a very worthy example to the future of the school. He gave to this effort largely of his time and means and of his physical strength and energy in the construction of the first buildings. They stand as only a very limited monument to his memory.

In 1950 the first number of the Western Pioneer, the Western Mennonite School Annual, was published. It was dedicated to Fred J. Gingerich, and stated in part: "We praise God that Brother Gingerich, with his wife faithfully standing by him, has helped to provide for such a school, by bearing a large part of the initial financial burden, by persevering in giving much of his time and energy in manual labor that his vision might be realized, and by imparting to others some of his spiritual vision."

As a farmer, Brother Gingerich was a real student of the soil. Tile drainage and fertilizers were systematically applied, and results were gratifying. Their home place was modestly arranged and very neatly kept. He did not only "keep" cattle and hogs. In these lines his careful, discerning judgment, as in other lines, enabled him to choose and improve remarkably the quality of his herds. Yet in all his varied interests he exemplified a Christian spirit which spoke forcefully to the business world. His registered cattle and hogs were not just a hobby, but the care he gave them enabled him in turn to contribute more largely to the cause of his Master.

As the years crept on Brother Gingerich was the more subject to rheumatic aches and pains. To avoid the winter climate of Oregon, Brother and Sister Gingerich spent parts of a number of winters in the region of Phoenix, Ariz. He had been called to organize the congregation at Sunny Slope, and succeeding contacts with that congregation were mutually enjoyed. It was with the Sunny Slope congregation that he spent the last months of his life. While he and Sister Gingerich had been there a number of times for the winter months, he had never before enjoyed a warm Arizona summer.

Several years before he had invested in a small acreage in Paradise Valley, which he was developing. An irrigation well had been drilled; fruit trees and shrubbery had been planted. On this desert spot he thoroughly enjoyed the Arizona heat and expressed himself as feeling unusually well.

He attended the regular midweek prayer meeting on a Thursday evening, and was seen about the place on Friday morning. But on Saturday afternoon his lifeless form was found as he had fallen, face downward, in the desert sand. It is supposed he passed away during the forenoon of Friday, and the likelihood is that his end came as a result of a stroke or a heart attack. His congenial disposition had endeared him to the community in Arizona as elsewhere. He had preached his last sermon June 19 at Sunny Slope.

Surviving are five brothers and one sister: Daniel, Turner, Mich.; Amos, Parnell, Iowa; Simon, Wayland, Iowa; Joseph, Dagmar, Mont.; Ezra, Quincy, Ill.; and Emma, Kalona, Iowa. After nearly 52 years of wedded life together, Sister Gingerich passed away, Dec. 5, 1953.

Memorial services were conducted at the Sunny Slope Church on July 17, Melvin Ruth officiating. The remains were then taken to his home community in Oregon, where at the Zion Church final funeral services were held on July 20, H. A. Wolfer and N. A. Lind officiating. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

While his able services were in demand districtwide, and he served in various capacities elsewhere, he was not forgetful of his own Bethel congregation. As his age brought on its limitations, he urged that the congregation consider the ordination of someone to assist him in the office of bishop. This was granted, and resulted in the ordination of Jonathan Zook to that office, July 15, 1951.

Brother and Sister Gingerich were blessed with one son, Daniel, who with his wife and family brought much comfort and cheer to his parents. Daniel occupies the farm home where Brother Fred and his wife first resided when they came to Oregon. His family consists of four sons: Thurlowe, Edwin, Richard, and Duane. There are also three great-grandchildren.

In their mutual concern for others Brother and Sister Gingerich shared the comforts of their home with two foster girls, who grew to womanhood there: Frances Johnson, now Mrs. Louis Nofziger, Molalla, Oreg., and Marie Johnson, now Mrs. Louis Hamilton, Sheridan, Oreg.

* The above tabulation represents contributions received by the Treasurer of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities including contributions received directly by the city missions and charitable institutions under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Charitable contributions include only contributions that were received by the Treasurer and not payments made by patrons of the charitable institutions. Other contributions not included in this tabulation are annuities and district board contributions not forwarded to the Treasurer at Elkhart. Most of the contributions under General Fund of missions have been used for home work. Figures are for the fiscal year ending April 1.

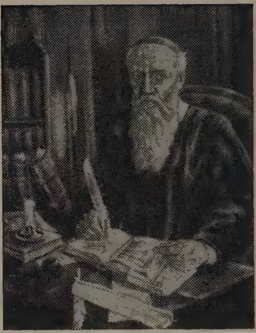
COMPLETE WRITINGS OF MENNO SIMONS 1496-1561



INTRODUCTION AND FOOTNOTES BY JOHN C. WENGER. SHORT BIOGRAPHY OF MENNO SIMONS BY HAROLD S. BENDER. TRANSLATED BY LEONARD VERDUIN. ILLUSTRATED. 1100 PAGES.

Now available! This is the first adequate and complete English translation of Menno Simons' works. Here for the first time are two hymns and six pages never before available.

Menno Simons' works were originally gathered into subdivisions called "books." John C. Wenger, editor of this compilation, has written very helpful introductions to each of these "books" clarifying them with explanations, backgrounds, and contextual material. Complete Writings of Menno Simons—1496-1561 is a long-awaited book, now available in a translation described as a "brilliant rendering."*

For a clear picture of what the leader for whom our denomination is named actually said and believed, order this book today. The Complete Writings of Menno Simons 1496-1561 belongs in every Mennonite home.

J. B. Smith's GREEK-ENGLISH CONCORDANCE TO THE NEW TESTAMENT

with an Introduction by Bruce M. Metzger of Princeton Theological Seminary

A TABULAR AND STATISTICAL GREEK-ENGLISH CONCORDANCE BASED ON THE KING JAMES VERSION WITH AN ENGLISH-TO-GREEK INDEX

J. B. Smith was a brilliant Bible scholar, linguist, and mathematician of our generation (b. 1870 – d. 1951). The Greek-English Concordance was the primary work of his last twenty years. It will be a permanent tribute to his skillful tabulations, computations, and genius. Bible students will be indebted to his labors for years to come.

The author believed that the usage of a word determined its most important meaning. His completely original concordance supplies all the New Testament references of each Greek word in the original, with each meaning of a word tabulated and located. Here charted are all the ways Biblical writers used the different Greek words. This is an invaluable book for word study, especially to the person whose knowledge of New Testament Greek is limited, or nil. We recommend this book to any person who has never used a concordance, and to the person who uses one only occasionally. We believe you will find it a remarkable helpful reference work that is clear and simple to use. See a copy at your local bookstore. Or write us. $12.75

VERY
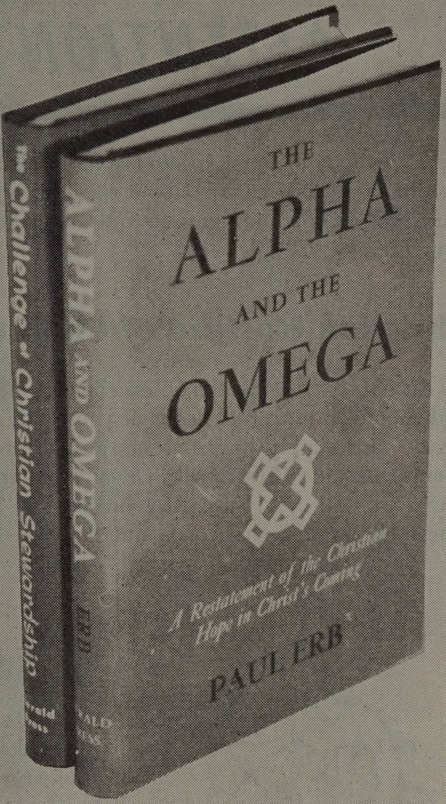
BOOKS



The Challenge of Christian Stewardship
THE ALPHA AND THE OMEGA
A Restatement of the Christian Hope in Christ's Coming
PAUL ERB

The ALPHA and The OMEGA Paul Erb

A brilliant discussion of Christian eschatology with emphasis on Christ's place as the past, present, and future Hope of man. Erb pursues these themes with a deep respect for their significance. The Alpha and The Omega is a thought-provoking book, of unusual impact—a devotional book of unusual depth. $2.50

The Challenge of Christian Stewardship Milo Kauffman

A remarkable "how-to-do-it" book that concentrates on the practical aspects of stewardship—money, time, talents, energy, and life. The author's vivid illustrations make his lessons very clear (and incidentally, very entertaining). A forceful book that will affect your life. $2.50

ATTENTION PARENTS!

We are happy to offer you this highly recommended series of Herald Press publications about the home and family relationships. Here are books to guide you in Christian growth and understanding in one of the most important areas of your life.

Christian Nurture of Children

CHRISTIAN
Nurture
ERB

By Alta Mae Erb. Here is an excellent book to help you understand the spiritual needs of your child. It explains clearly and simply how parents and teachers can cooperate with the Holy Spirit in awakening and nurturing Christian faith. A book that belongs in every home where children live or are expected! $2.00

Christian Parents' Baby Book

By Alta Mae Erb and Winifred Paul. A really different baby book for Christian parents! In addition to the usual features, it has suggestions and questions that will help parents better nurture and understand their child. Delightful illustrations. Lovely white padded binding (it's washable!). In gift box. $2.75

Meditations for the New Mother

By Helen Good Brenneman. Any mother with a newborn infant will find in this beautiful devotional book a source of spiritual strength and guidance. Here, for each of the first thirty days following the birth of her baby, are a meditation, prayer, Scripture passage, and poem. Beautiful gift binding; illustrated. $1.25

About Marriage and Parenthood

So You're Going to Be Married and Becoming Parents. By H. Clair Amstutz, M.D. In both of these excellent pamphlets, the author has combined the highest Christian principles with the best of present medical and psychological understanding. Frank, yet entirely in good taste. Excellent to place in the hands of Christian young people and parents everywhere. Each 50¢

The Mennonite Encyclopedia

The Mennonite Encyclopedia is the first reference work in English that covers comprehensively more than 400 years of history, faith, life, and culture of Anabaptism in Europe and world Mennonitism. It will serve as the standard reference work on Mennonitism for years to come.

The Encyclopedia has been jointly edited by historians and scholars of the three major North American Mennonite bodies. European Mennonite historians have made important contributions to the work. In addition to the editors more than 400 other writers have written articles.

This four-volume work contains 3,200 pages in which appear 10,000 articles, 400 illustrations, and over 100 maps of Mennonite communities in Europe, North America, South America, and other parts of the world. Brief articles treat more than 2,000 known Anabaptist martyrs—Swiss, German, Austrian, and Dutch.

An attempt has been made to supply articles on all known existing and extinct Mennonite congregations, institutions, organizations, and publications. Included also are countries, states, provinces, counties, cities, and towns where Mennonites have lived.

The Encyclopedia is a mine of information on the history, theology, culture, ethics, life, and organized activities of all Mennonite bodies. It will serve as an invaluable source for students, scholars, editors, writers, pastors, and all persons active in Mennonite church life. But it is also of great significance to all students of Reformation history and contemporary Protestantism.

Price: $10.00 per volume; $33.75 per set until November 1, 1956, at which time Volume II will be published. Remaining volumes will be released in 1957 and 1958. Order your set today from:
